If Ting-yih-cheng's suggestion that a number of Chinese be sent home to learn English and to become acquainted with European affairs be carried out, it will undoubtedly be a far greater hit than the Pekin College scheme. What can possibly look more like progress than this? It will flatter the vanity of the public at home to an enormous degree, and will doubtless go further towards conciliating them towards China than anything that has yet been devised. Such a scheme would also be deserving of approbation, not on the mere sentimental grounds upon which it would be approved at home, but also as being in reality a step in the right direction. It is unquestionable that foreigners have as a rule shown a far more liberal feeling towards the Chinese than the latter have shown towards them. Notwithstanding all the Anglo-Saxon overbearingness, there has undoubtedly been manifested both by England and America a far greater interest in the Chinese, as Chinese, than has been shown by them in respect by foreigners. The French have always been much interested in the inhabitants of this country, and French writers have contributed very greatly to the current literature on the subject. In contrast to this, the bulk of the Chinese, and more especially the educated classes, have obstinately preserved their exclusiveness and their contempt for the outer barbarian. It is not too much to say that there are scarcely half a dozen Chinamen in the whole Empire, who think honestly that anything like foreign knowledge can be of the slightest value; or, that Western arts can be considered comparable with those of the Middle Kingdom. Under such circumstances, it is a great thing for a Chinese official to step forward and advocate the overthrow of some of the barriers which have separated the West and his country. Such a step could not but tend to overthrow prejudices, to pave the way to better understanding, and to give China the advantages of those discoveries in art and science from which her isolated situation and exclusive policy have hitherto shut her out.

Perhaps Mr. Alexander Johnston, the Shanghai Municipal Secretary, who has evidently devoted great pains to the consideration of criminal matters both in the Model Settlement and this Colony, will be able to explain upon what principle it is that the heavy portion of the Shanghai criminals are sent down to undergo their punishments in Hongkong. This point may very well be taken into consideration, with reference to the criminal statistics of this place. It is not to be supposed that a residence of so and so many years in Victoria Gaol has so great a moral influence upon a man that, at the end of that period, the convicts turn out desirable members of Society. When their sentences have expired, these men are set at large upon the Colony, and in one way or another, it has to provide for them. It is very difficult to comprehend rightly how the matter of expense is understood to be arranged. Why Hongkong should be called upon to pay the cost of the bulk of Her Majesty's Criminals in China, is somewhat inconceivable. The plan no doubt may suit Imperial Government admirably; but so far as this Colony is concerned, it is simply a gross imposition—nothing in fact, more nor less than a squeeze. No wonder Mr. Alexander Johnston is able triumphantly to point to the heavy number of the European Police Force in Hongkong as compared with his own Model Settlement, when additional men have to be provided to guard the gaol, and so many more are required to watch the scum of the Treaty Ports, so soon as it is released from the quiet and security of that establishment. There might possibly be some reason in the matter, if the Colony were not in addition burdened with the Military Contribution, and if it did not pay its own local expenses; but for the residents in Hongkong to be made use of as the means of maintaining order at the Treaty Ports, with which they have nothing whatever to do, is certainly a very great injustice; especially when the Model Settlement, through its representative, the Municipal Secretary, takes upon itself to read a lecture about the defective state of criminal matters here. This is for all the world like throwing a lot of mud at a man, and then complaining that he looks rather dirty.

It is understood that preparations are being made to do away with the Treasury Department, and to make arrangements for conducting the financial business through the Banks. The step seems, so far as it is possible to judge on general grounds, one of a wise nature. If the principle of lessening the present enormous subdivision of offices were carried a little further, additional good might be done to the monetary interests of the Colony.

Private advices from Shanghai to the 22nd instant, state that the wreck of the Hamilla Mitchell broke up during a strong breeze and heavy swell on the afternoon of the 19th instant. This news was brought to Shanghai by the Chinese gunboat Confucius, which arrived on the 21st instant. The chief cause of her breaking up appears to have been the heavy weight of her masts and yards. Considerable comment has been made on account of Captain Trollope of H.M.S. Zebra having refused to go down to assist, unless the management of the whole matter was placed in his hands. It is said that, had he done so, the treasure, about £49,000, might have been saved. As mentioned yesterday, he has since consented to go down; but this, it must be confessed, seems the usual Government shutting of the stable door after the horses have gone. An interesting report by Mr. Tapp, Shipping Clerk of H.B.M. Consulate, is given elsewhere. It sets forth clearly the nature of the wreck, and its precise position. It is worthy of note that Mr. Tapp at once expressed his opinion that there was no chance of the hull being saved, but it seems probable that, by diving, a portion of the cargo may yet be recovered.

The sentence on the man George, who was found guilty of murder at Shanghai, but recommended by the jury to mercy, has been confirmed, and he is to be hanged some time during the present week.

SUPREME COURT.
Before the Hon. J. Pauncefote.
IN ADMIRALTY.

In re the capture of certain piratical junks by H. M. gunboat "Bouncer."—Petition for bounty.

The application in this case, for a decree, was made on the 13th instant, when on account of some insufficiency in the affidavits attached, the matter was adjourned. The Queen's Advocate now presented supplemental affidavits, which his Lordship said were quite satisfactory and complete, and the decree was accordingly made as prayed for.

The Queen's Proctor, Mr. Hazeland, porrected the taxed bill of costs in the matter of certain goods, ex Tricolor derelict, which had been condemned as droits of Admiralty. His Lordship approved of the same.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.
Before James Russell, Esq.
August 27th.

P.C., No. 18, John Ellis, having found one Wong-a-pak, at 3.30 A.M. on the 27th, charged him with being a suspicious character, as he endeavoured to escape when No. 18 found him.

Defendant said that he was employed in the Kwong-wo passage boat, but on the previous evening, he had lost his money in a gambling house, and was ashamed to go home, and so went to sleep in the nam-mo-min. The boat to which he belonged was his father's property, but at present absent from this Colony.

Ordered to find security in $100, for three months, as a suspicious character.

Wong-a-ling, a barber, of Heungshan, being charged by I.P.C. No. 376, Kayim Khan, with being abroad without a pass, defendant said that he was eating rice with his daughter at Tung-hung-chan, when one came suddenly and told him that his wife had fallen from the loft of the house, and had hurt herself. So, when taken by the constable, he was hurrying homeward. No. 376, on recall, said that defendant when taken, gave this as his reason. Discharged.

Lum-a-cheung, a cook, was charged by W. R. Hohnholz, a storekeeper, with having unlawfully and repeatedly misconducted himself within the past three months, as a domestic servant, and with having on the 27th day of August, without his permission, and without any reasonable cause, absented himself from his duty. The evidence tendered by complainant having completely substantiated the charge, and as there was a small memorandum, numbered 3,015, in the magistracy, about this cook, he was fined $1 dollar, or one month in prison with hard labor.

Regina by Cheong-a-ching, police constable No. 20, complainant, and Chea-a-foon, the master of the Chun-sing pawn-shop, on Bonham-strand West, defendant.

The defendant was charged with having at Victoria, unlawfully refused to produce his shop books for inspection of the complainant, relative to the goods pledged at his shop on and from the 24th instant, to 8 A.M., on the 26th instant, upon being required to do so under a written order of the Deputy Superintendent of Police.

The evidence of the complainant, supported by that of Lo-a-kim, a married woman, who had accompanied him round the pawnshops on a search for some goods that had been stolen, was shortly to the effect that in all the other establishments the books had been produced immediately the order was exhibited, on that of the defendant it was treated with brief contempt, "We have not time, we are eating rice, even if the Governor was here it is nothing." The accountant did permit a glance at the books, but defendant stopped the accountant from allowing a full search of the books.

Remanded until the 31st instant, to allow search of the books.

A shabby looking Celestial, who described himself as a dealer in old wares, was arraigned in the dock on the charge of stealing an old bed curtain, the property of one Madram Moottoo, an Indian watchman, at Tai-wong-lane.

The prisoner, who was trotting along the Tai-wong-lane, cast his eye on the house door of the complainant, and finding that it was not locked, thought he might pop in and wish a good-afternoon to the inmates, but finding no one there, took off the curtain from Madram Moottoo's bed, when he was interrupted by Armoo, a fellow watchman, who handed him over to the police, and which resulted in prisoner being sent to prison for three months, with hard labor.

Before C. May, Esq.

In the case of the counter-charge made by Yam-a-bing and Yam-a-wong, of Toongkoon, against Chun-a-fong, a Government turncock, Cheang-yow, owner of a fishstall in the Eastern market—Chun-a-foong being in court—stated that he was owner of a fishstall at the Eastern market, and that it had frequently happened that there was an insufficiency of water for the cleansing of the market, and other purposes. On the 13th August, inst., the defendant was in the market, and some of the stall-holders, butchers, fishmen, and others were present, and complained to defendant about the short supply of water, saying that other markets had plenty, why was their market deficient? In reply to which, the defendant then said, that the order from the Inspector was to stop the supply at 3 P.M., but if each stall-holder would give him ten cents per month, he would keep the pipes open half an hour longer. All present said that they would agree to this, and at once about ten of the stall-holders each gave defendant ten cents. He was one of those who paid at that time, and knew the names of others who did so. Ah-foo, Ah-yeon, Ah-wing, Ah-yun, Ah-lam, and Ak-com. After that, the pipes were left open, and a more liberal supply was afforded. He proceeded to state that his visit to the court was to listen to a charge of assault brought by defendant against two men belonging to the market, who did not pay him the ten cents, and that led to the disturbance. He had come forward because he was called upon. At this stage of the proceedings the case was remanded until next day.

On Mr. May taking the bench to-day, Lee-a-choy, having made his declaration, said that he has rented a vegetable stall at the Hawan Market for eight years, and had known the defendant as the turncock of the District. On the 23rd of July last, noticing the defendant passing through the market, he had spoken to him about the scarcity of water in the market, when defendant promised that if he was given a small sum, he would keep open the hydrant a little longer. On the 17th of August the defendant came to his stall, and said, "you promised to give me some small monies, if I gave an additional supply of water." There had been water in the market a little later than before, so he immediately gave to defendant a ten cent piece, a poultry seller of the market, named Leong-a-yew, was present when he gave the ten cents, but as he asked no questions, he could not tell if Leong-a-yew gave defendant anything.

Leong-a-yow, then stated that he had witnessed the payment by the last witness, his stall being opposite, but said that he had not give defendant anything, and had never been asked to do so.

Ng-a-foo, Lu-a-wing, Chun-a-shing, Chan-a-shung, then gave their testimony, which was identical. They stated that they were present at the hydrant between 9 and 10 A.M. when the defendant was there, and that the stall holders were there also, they were complaining about the scarcity of water, and defendant, made reply, "If you want more water, you had better give me some tea money." Each of these denied having given a pice.

The defendant then stated that for the last six years he had been a turncock, and denied the charge, he farther alleged that these witnesses came forward and falsely accused him, because of a disturbance at the hydrant on the 25th instant, when he was assaulted by two of the market people, when turning off the water at the market hydrant.

Remanded until the 3rd day of September, and admitted to bail, one householder for $25.

MEETING OF THE ICE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the subscribers to the Ice house fund was held yesterday afternoon, at the Hongkong Club. There were present Mr. Geo. Heard, Chairman, Dr. Murray, Hon. E. H. Pollard, and Messrs. Forbes, Helland, Duncanson, C. H. Morgan, G. Sharpe, Kaye, Hitchcock, Hazeland, Deacon, Coughtrie and O'Hara.

The Chairman gave a brief history of the Ice Association. In the year 1862 Mr. John Dent had sent round a circular inviting subscriptions towards erecting an ice house, the need of which had been long felt in the Colony. An estimate had been made of the probable cost, $7,000, and it was proposed that this amount should be subscribed for in shares of $250 each. Thirty shares were taken up, the ice house erected, and two cargoes ordered out from the United States. Certain rules were framed for the distribution of the ice among the shareholders at a subscription rate and for selling to the public. For two years, the association continued to get out ice, but each year a loss was shown, the first of $3.00 per share, and the second of over $5.00 per share, when efforts were made to induce the Tudor Company to send their cargoes to the colony. These negociations finally resulted in the present building being thoroughly repaired at a large cost, which was proportionately borne by the Tudor Company and the association, and leased for the term of five years, under terms that they were always to keep a sufficient supply of ice on hand, and the maximum price to be charged was to be 5 cents per pound. The terms of this lease expired on the 1st of June, 1870, and this meeting was accordingly called by the trustees in order that the wishes of the shareholders in reference to any further arrangements might be ascertained. Correspondence had taken place with the Tudor Company, and in reply they had applied through their agent here for a renewal of the lease for 5 years longer, on the same terms as the one now existing. After remarking upon the faithful manner in which the Tudor Company had carried out the terms of the contract, the colony never having been but once without ice, the Chairman went on to say that it was but fair to give consideration to the proposition just read, and althouhg the price of ice here was high, still in Batavia and Calcutta where it was one cent a pound, the consumption was very much larger; Calcutta taking sixteen cargoes a year, while Hongkong only took three.

Mr. Hitchcock said that before taking any positive steps in this matter, he thought it behoved the subscribers, as well in their own as the general interests of the public, to look about and see if some reduction could not be made in the present price, which it must be admitted by all was very large. He was informed a short time since, in passing through Galle, that ice was supplied there at 2½ cents a pound.

Mr. O'Hara said he thought this must be a mistake. The price had been reduced here not so much because the ice cost less, as to induce a greater consumption, and thereby reduce the wastage that otherwise occurred.

Considerable conversation followed as to the reduced cost of getting ice out here, and Mr. Pollard remarking that sixteen or seventeen years ago ice was supplied at 3 cents. The company would not again have to incur the expense of the building, and he thought the price ought to be much reduced.

Mr. G. Sharpe was of opinion that the present price was far too much, but he understood that the Tudor Company were very resolute in not reducing their price, and that rather than do so they would throw a surplus cargo into the harbor. They were a wealthy company and could run a most formidable opposition, but he thought some effort ought to be made here to see if ice could not be had cheaper. Ice might be had from Tientsin at a much less cost. The Tientsin project was not favorably thought of by the majority of those present.

Mr. Pollard then proposed that the company should be offered a renewal of the present lease on the same terms, except that the maximum price to be charaged should be 4 cents instead of 5 cents. After some further dicussion, however, this proposition was withdrawn, and the following substituted, which was unanimously carried:—"That the renewal of the lease be left in the hands of the Trustees, who were to make the best arrangements they could for the future occupation of the ice house, and supplying the colony with ice." This would give an opportunity for inviting tenders, and making an effort to obtain more favorable terms.

The Chairman mentioned that they had never received tenders from any other company or individual. In fact, tenders had never before been asked.

The Chairman further mentioned that of former trustees Messrs Turing and Rennie had left the Colony, and it would be necessary to either elect a new board or fill up the vacancies.

The Hon. E. H. Pollard and Mr. Hitchcock were elected to fill the vacancy, and the meeting then separated.

Fatal Chignon.—The Newcastle Journal states that a young woman has died in that town from a leprous disease, communicated by the chignon she wore, which is supposed to have contained some of the hair known to be supplied to chignon makers from the cemeteries and hospitals of the East.

A traveller says that if he were asked to describe the first sensation of a camel ride, he would say: "Take a music stool, and having wound it up as high as it will go, put it in a cart without springs, get on top, and next drive the cart transversely across a ploughed field, and you will then form some notion of the terror and uncertainty you would experience the first time you mounted a camel."

GERMAN THEATRICALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Sir,—Although we are of opinion that such private affairs as alluded to in Mr. Julius Menke's letter, published in your to-day's issue, should not be brought before the public, we consider it our duty, in justice to the German Amateurs, to correct Mr. Menke's misrepresentations, with reference to the contemplated performance in honour of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh.

The facts are: That nobody has been excluded from acting; that the necessary funds for the performance have been raised by way of subscription amongst the Members of the German Club only, as has invariably been the custom with us; and that by far the majority, in fact all but two of those Amateurs who appeared on the Programme of the performance on the 21st April last, are still members of the Club, and willing to lend their assistance on this occasion.—We are, Sir,

Your obedient servants,
THE COMMITTEE OF THE CLUB "GERMANIA."
Hongkong, August 27th 1869.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Sir,—Mr. Menke, in his letter in your to-day's issue, leads the community to believe that no performance by the German Amateurs can be given. The Gentlemen who performed on the 21st April last, were all at that time members of the German Club, two of them only, besides Mr. Menke, for reasons best known to themselves, resigned their membership. The contemplated performance, for which the necessary funds have been subscribed (should the Amateurs be able to obtain the Theatre at the City Hall), will be given, thereby proving to you that "Barkis is willing" and the money is there wherewith to "pay the piper;" consequently how the above-mentioned gentleman can constitute himself the organ of the German Amateurs, we are at a loss to understand. His effusion, therefore, can only be taken as representing his own views, those of the gentlemen of his office, and of a few outside individuals.

Enclosing our Cards,
We remain, Sir,
Yours faithfully,
"TWO BLACKBALLS."
Hongkong, 27th August, 1869.

PROXIMATE AND REMOTE CAUSES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

Sir,—Believing that both my heart and liver are diseased similarly to those organs in the corpse of the late J. C. Meagher, after reading your report of the coroner's delivery of the law on the matter, a question has proposed itself to me thus:—Should some person or persons administer to me two knocks on the head, one before and the other behind, and then for about twenty days should I administer to myself about a bottle of Hennessy's brandy, and when dead should my stomach, from its inflamed state reveal why my appetite had faded altogether, is it really a fact that the givers of the knocks would be held guilty of manslaughter? Logic, that is, Reason, points out to one who has been where men, in all stages of functional disease and great irregularities, who have had repeated knocks on the head and elsewhere, and not taken daily a bottle of spirits, have survived them all for a long time, so wonderfully great is the vis medicatrix naturæ.

Reason points out that the inflamed and vitiated blood of an habitual imbiber, unable to eat, is the reason why the blows might accelerate death—but if, after the blows have been received, the daily dose of inflammatory cause be increased, which, in the casuistry of medical jurisprudence is the proximate and guilty cause.

Yours, &c.,
PUZZLED.

THE "HAMILLA MITCHELL."

The N. C. Daily News publishes the following report by Mr. W. H. Tapp, H.B.M. shipping clerk at Shanghai, of the result of his visit, on the part of the Consul, to the wreck of the above vessel.

British Consulate,
Shanghai, August 17th, 1869.

Sir,—In accordance with the instructions given me by Mr. Forrest, I at once proceeded in the North German Steamship China to the Leuconna Island, on which the British ship Hamilla Mitchell has been wrecked.

The Leuconna Island is situated about sixteen miles to the S.E. of the Saddle Islands, and when first seen from the North appears to be composed of three distinct islands, but on closer approach these merge into one large island. We arrived at the island at about nine o'clock on Sunday morning last. On approaching it, we could see strips of something white overlying most part of the island, which were at first thought to be fish, but which eventually proved to be Shirtings, Drills, &c., that the fishermen had succeeded in getting out of the wreck, and were drying in the sun. These did not prove to be the only kind of cargo saved by them; red and other blankets, camlets, hats, blue cloth, and many other miscellaneous articles were to be found stowed away in the niches of the island, which is very rocky, and also concealed under dried grass and firewood. The natives seemed to be very cunning and to know the difference in value of blue cloth or blankets, and shirtings and drills, for the former were in every instance found to be carefully bound with the latter, so as to lead one to believe they contained nothing else. The wreck was not visible from the steamer, nor until we had rounded a point in our boats, when we suddenly beheld a sight at once grand and pitiable: there lay, firmly imbedded between two sharp rocks and on some smaller ones, the ill-fated Hamilla Mitchell, with her bow projecting nearly out of the water, and her stern immersed to the cross-jack yard. All ordinary sail to the main sky-sail was still set, and filling to the light S.E. breeze that was then blowing; the tide was running strong through a narrow pass between the ship and the island, and boats could hardly with safety get through the surf, which was rising an immense height and breaking over the ship and rocks, forming a very picturesque appearance, but rendering getting on board the vessel next to an impossibility. In the afternoon, I managed to climber up the bows and got on board; with great difficulty I reached the port fore-rigging, in consequence of the vessel heeling over to starboard, nearly on her beam ends. There was no doubt when once on board that the wreckers had been there, for large holes had been cut in the upper deck, though which they had passed the cargo. I afterwards learnt that six of them had been drowned in attempting to do so, and that some of the bodies were still in the vessel. They had apparently let go one of the anchors whilst a number of them were sitting or working among the chain, the result being that several were severely injured,—one man having a large piece of flesh cut out of his back, and another his arm broken. The latter preferred to be treated and taken care of by the Hwashing's people, and has, I believe, come in that vessel to be sent to the Chinese Hospital. The former, however, is taking care of himself on the island, and was last seen with the cavity filled up with oakum. Nothing further was done this day in consequence of the heavy swell. The next day a portion of the crew of the unfortunate vessel, with captain and first mate, and some of the crew and an officer of the China, commenced sending down the sails and rigging as fast as possible. In the afternoon it became calmer, and I had a careful look at the vessel, it was even calm enough to allow the boats to go to the after part of the vessel and put the men in the mizen top, the boats remaining over the poop whilst they sent the sails &c., down into them. Soundings were also obtained close to the stern of vessel, I learnt that they varied from fifteen to seventeen fathoms. Her stern cannot therefore be on the ground, but she seemed to be very firmly set on the rocks, and even when aloft, little or no vibration from the heavy surf could be felt. The state of the tides struck me as being very peculiar, sometimes the flood tide made to the East and sometimes to the West, the same with the ebb; in fact the direction of the tides was always changing. I took particular notice of this and think it necessary to mention. I am of opinion that a great deal of the cargo, and it is even probable the treasure too, although most immersed, can with proper management, appliances, and calm weather, be obtained. I am informed that the treasure is stowed under the cabin in a compartment by itself. What I think is most required is a number of men to get the masts and yards (with the exception of the mizen mast) out of the vessel; this will greatly ease her and she will be less liable to strain and break up should a South Easterly gale set in, to which she would be greatly exposed; of course the removal of the decks is a matter of necessity in order to enable the divers to get at the treasure, and this I should think can only be effected with gunpowder.

A foreign mechanic who went with us in the steamer, informed me that he dived down under the main deck, and that but very little of the cargo had been taken out of the vessel. He saw two of the bodies of the Chinamen in the fore hold, he also went down on the poop and said that the swell did not affect him after he got a little distance below the surface, so from this I should think that there would be no difficulty in a diver going down with a proper apparatus on; it is my impression that there is no chance of the hull of the vessel being saved, as she seems to be perfectly riddled with small rocks from the bow to abaft the mainmast, and if so, this would account for the manner in which she has stood the heavy swell that is constantly breaking over her.

The Hwashing, which vessel was sent to protect the wreck, was lying at the island, and I have been kindly furnished by Captain Vassallo with the following exact position of the wreck; latitude 30 deg. 24 min. 35 sec. N. long. 122 deg. 55 min. 24 sec. E. He informed me that he arrived the day before the China, and that he succeeded in stopping one junk with a quantity of cargo in her salved from the wreck, which he took possession of; he was of opinion also that two others he saw in the distance had some on board. He had also recovered some of the cargo from the natives on the island, who, I may add, were very peaceable, and gave up, and even carried down to the boats, the goods that were taken from them.

It was decided that the first officer and five of the crew of the vessel should remain in possession of the wreck, and I availed myself of the departure of the China to return to Shanghai.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your most obedient servant,
W. Handyside Tapp,
Shipping Clerk.

A PERTINENT ENQUIRY.

WHY DO NOT THE LOWER ANIMALS DIE OF CHOLERA?

To the Editor of the "Times of India."

Sir,—I have read with much interest in a recent extra supplement to the Gazette of India, a report on the treatment of epidemic cholera, which you are now reproducing in your columns. The question that I, an unprofessional man, would put and like answered, is, why, if cholera is a poison received into the system by vehicles that are external and not generated within the system, except through the media of the air, water, or food, as appears to be the prevailing opinion, is it that the lower animals don't get cholera when it is either epidemic or endemic?

It is a fact that the same poisons, mineral or vegetable, that destroy human life, will destroy that of animals; and they are, as man is, subject to fevers, agues, liver complaints, colds, coughs, and other diseases to which man is liable. If so, why don't they take the cholera poison and die off as men do?

I submit this question especially for the consideration of your medical readers, and would be thankful for a satisfactory reply.—I am, &c., G.

THE LONDON FASHIONABLE SEASON.
(From a Lady Correspondent.)

"We are living in the metropolis just now, the usual life of excitement and fever, peculiar to a London season, balls, dinners, fetes, and receptions follow each other quickly enough, too quickly, alas, for it becomes hard work for an habitue to appear at half the places to which she is asked. Some of the best parties given of late have been the Duchess of Marlborough's, Mrs. Washington Hibbert's, and Lady Arabella Hesketh's. Tableaux Vivants are the rage just now in fashionable life, they are most exquisitely done with grand scenic effects and lovely dresses and properties. Lady Dinna Beauclerk, the sister of the Duke of St. Albans, distinguishes herself greatly therein. She is a young lady who is winning laurels in the literary world too; a book she wrote on Norway was the book of the season last year, and her novel, 'True Love,' just published, promises to be equally popular. Hyde Park is thronged, in the morning with equestrians and pedestrians, and in the afternoon with the world who drive, and the world who looks on. There is very little change in all this from year to year, save that now and then there is a little alteration in the exact spot where they walk and drive. This year we are following in the footsteps of last year, the fashionable drive is from Apsley Gate past Albert Gate towards South Kensington, and the promenade in the morning on the left of the Row."—Madras Mail, July 27.

THE TRAGEDY IN HOSIER LANE.
(Spectator.)

The interest of the Hosier-lane tragedy seems to us to consist mainly in the light it throws on one of the great social evils of this country,—that fear of poverty, rising constantly to the very verge of mania, which haunts certain valuable classes of the community, saps or rather corrodes their moral characters, poisons their lives, and very frequently destroys their instinctive faith. As a rule, the fear is concealed, from the motive which in part produces it, the pride of respectability, and we doubt if the prosperous are ever quite aware, or, indeed, ever can be quite aware, of its intensity and diffusion. "I fear greatly," recently said a philanthropist, who had singular opportunities of knowing the poor, "the next generation of Englishmen will be an utterly joyless people. As fast as they rise above savagery the fear of the future settles on them like a cloud." The terror penetrates their very souls like a superstition, till it becomes a permanent constituent of their characters, never decreases, never disappears, paralyzes energy, and deprives them in the day of misfortune alike of recuperative power and reliance on the Divine. They can pray against all evils but this, against which Christ himself directed prayer. The frightful tragedy which has this week divided attention with the Irish Church is only an extreme instance of its effect, minor instances of which are witnessed every day. The unhappy couple whom the jury from a natural pity have pronounced insane, though every incident revealed showed unusual clearness of judgment and fixity of purpose, had clearly no other motive for their crime than terror of the future. Even supposing Duggan's own statement true, that he was harshly treated by his employer—a charge which the employer distinctly denies—that harshness consisted only in a dismissal, and was only resented so savagely because that dismissal exasperated the permanent dread which ultimately drove husband and wife to crime. Duggan was just the kind of character to feel that dread in its utmost bitterness, an extremely respectable, laborious, but sickly and depressed man, with a strong desire to rise. He seems to have worked most diligently through life, to have kept any situation he obtained, to have been respected by his own family and neighbours, and to have complained habitually as his worst cross in life of his deficient education. He feared it would deprive him of the work as clerk, on which alone he was dependent, his ill-health forbidding hard labour, while his family rendered any accumulation from his wages nearly impossibly. He was reported by all who observed him to be extremely fond of his children, though, probably from poverty, he had not sent them to school, and the very incidents of the murder showed steady consideration for their happiness. He loved them, he says himself, in a letter either written or finished after their death, so much that he could not endure to leave them in want, and there is no reason to accuse him of self deception. If he had been thinking only of himself, self-destruction would have secured his end, release from immediate suffering. The means adopted for the murder were those which he knew would inflict least pain, and the poison was administered in sleep, and the bodies, as a last act of care, were decorously laid out, and apparently in newly-washed clothes. There was no passion, no hatred, no revenge impelling Duggan to the children; nothing but fear, a fear which his wife shared as completely as himself. Her case, indeed, is more remarkable in some ways than his. Duggan was suffering from rupture, and possible, therefore, from the extreme nervous disturbance which often accompanies that form of disease; but his wife seems to have been a healthy woman, who brought up six children, and turned them out daily so neat that they were remarked by the neighbours for their tidiness. There was no actual hunger upon her, for they had still 12s. in the house; though it seems probable, from the surgeon's evidence, that she had either abstained from food for the sake of economy, or, as is more likely, had been unable, from the agitation of her own thoughts, to eat. We agree with the jury that she aided in the crime, for it is, in the first place, most improbable that she was poisoned in her sleep three hours after her children had all died; and, in the second, Duggan had no conceivable motive for inventing such a charge against his wife; and he speaks of her in his letter to his brother as sharing in his design. Either he must have completely controlled her will, which, with the children at stake, is improbable, or she shared his fear of the future, the horror which he expressed of death from misery, and indignity, and privation, a horror which actually enabled her, as we read Duggan's letter, not merely to assent to the crime, but to plan its commission with her husband. Had their resolve been a common suicide, there would have been little to surprise us. That has happened before, and the resistance to overcome is in such a case very much less. Despite all the teachings of religion, mankind refuses, perhaps in obedience to some deep instinct, perhaps from a selfishness beyond the control of the will, to believe that suicide is murder, and men kill themselves every day to whom the murder of another would seem an almost impossible crime. But here we have a woman deliberately planning the slaughter of children of whom she was proud, and for whom she steadily exerted herself, because she feared that she and they would find themselves in poverty. One has heard of such murders committed from passion, or during a fit of insanity, or under overwhelming distress, but this quiet concurrence of two minds in what to them must have seemed a great crime—indeed, Duggan admits that,—out of fear of an evil not yet present, is, we imagine, almost without example, and sets in the strongest light the profound distrust with which some of those among whom we live must regard the working of the institutions around them. Before two persons could have combined for such a crime, they must have despaired of aid from friends, from society, and from God.

A STRANGE STORY.
(Deccan Herald, August 2.)

Sutwa Bin Hurree was brought before the Railway Magistrate on Saturday, charged with fraudulently delivering as genuine nine counterfeit rupees. It came out in evidence that he had delivered one rupee to the Chinchwad station master for a ticket, and that this rupee was a counterfeit. When he was informed by the station master of the baseness of the coin, he at once handed his purse to the station master, which was found to contain twenty-three rupees, eight of which were counterfeits; he then stated that as he was passing along the road near Tulleygaum, Mawul Talooka, four men came up to him with a new blanket, which they requested him to buy out of charity, as they were travellers and had run short of money. They offered the blanket for Rs. 2. He took out his purse, and from it gave the men the Rs. 2, taking the blanket into his hand. The men at once said the rupees, were bad. Delighted with his bargain, he told the men to take two rupees that would satisfy them, and handed them his purse. While they were selecting their two rupees he was examining his blanket. When they returned his purse, he counted the rupees and found the number all right. He then parted with the friends who had given him so good a bargain, and trudged on to Chinchwad, where, as it had become dark, he was glad to take the train. There it was discovered how dearly he had purchased the blanket. The neighbourhood of Tulleygaum has long been infested with blacklegs of this description, who waylay labourers returning to their villages with full purses, and victimise them. The police there seem unable to hunt these fellows down.

A YOUNG LADY BURIED ALIVE.

Recently New Orleans was thrown into a state of excitement about the mysterious circumstances under which a young lady, very well connected, had been buried. The young lady was suddenly taken ill of disease of the heart, and, as was supposed at the time, was suffocated to death, owing to her unusual fleshiness. A physician, her own uncle, attended her in her last moments, and pronounced her dead. She died about one o'clock in the morning, and the funeral occurred at five in the evening. That same evening the sexton of the graveyard left his son in charge of the keys, with the instruction to close the gates at the usual hour, after making his round through the cemetery. About dusk the sexton's son, while going his round, passing near the tomb in which the young lady had been buried scarcely an hour before, heard low and heart-rending moanings coming from behind the marble slab. Losing his self-possession, and overcome with fear, he hurriedly left the scene, and closing the main gates of the cemetery, went home, and it was not until morning that he related the circumstances to his horror-stricken family. Information of the facts were immediately sent to the bereaved family of the deceased, and workmen were soon engaged in opening the tomb and breaking open the coffin, enclosing the remains of the young lady. The spectacle was too horrible to describe. Her face and body were in a terrible state of distortion, her hair torn from the roots. In the terrible convulsions which had preceded her death, she had literally harrowed her beautiful face with her nails, and her clenched fists in contact with her foaming lips showed the traces of her teeth. It is unnecessary to say that life was entirely extinct.—New York Sun.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.
Hongkong, Friday Evening.

The market for Bengal drug keeps steady. In Malwa, a large amount of business has been done on cash terms. The following are the ruling prices:—New Patna, $567½, and $570 to arrive of the 8th sales; New Benares, $557½ to $560, little doing; Old Patna, $547½, nominal; Malwa, $545 to $550, sellers on cash terms.

There is still some inquiry for goods in the market for Imported manufactures, and although dealers have advanced somewhat in their ideas, they are far as yet from paying satisfactory prices. Importers are showing some firmness, and in some cases are refusing to entertain any offers that are not up to the price demanded. For a large lot of 7lbs. Grey Shirtings to arrive $2.68, has been refused. The heavier weight may be called firm at $2.8 for the best chops. There seems to be nothing doing in Yarn, although there is considerable inquiry. Sales reported to-day consist of 4,000 pieces 6lbs. T-cloths at $1.95, 2,000 7lb at $2.40, and 1,000 chintz at $2.20. The following sales have been reported within the last two days, 1,000 pieces 7lb Grey Shirtings at $2.55, 1,500 pieces 8/4 at $2.32½, 1,400 pieces 8½ lbs. at $2.57½, 300 pieces White Shirtings at $2.30, 1,000 pieces chintz $2.24, 500 pieces English Drills at $4.70, to $4.75, 500 pieces Turkey Red at $2.72, 2,750 pieces 6lb T-cloth at $1.90 to $1.95, 1,000 pieces at $1.92, 600 pieces $1.87, 800 pieces 7 lbs. at $2.20, 200 pieces Camlets at $15.70, and 192 pieces Spanish Stripes H.H.A. at 70 cents, 25 bales Yarn, No. 16-24, at $135, and 50 bales at $134½. In shares, there has not been much business doing. Old Bank have changed hands at 30 premium ex div. New quoted 15. Small sales of Fire shares at $140 premium, and of steamboat at 12 premium.

THE PERFECTION OF PREPARED COCOA.
MARAVILLA COCOA
Sole Proprietors—TAYLOR BROTHERS, London.
THE COCOA (or CACAO) of MARAVILLA is the true THEOBROMA of LINNÆUS. Cocoa is indigenous to South America, of which Maravilla is a favoured portion. TAYLOR BROTHERS having secured the exclusive supply of this unrivalled Cocoa, have, by the skilful application of their soluble principle and elaborate machinery, produced what is so undeniably the perfection of prepared Cocoa, that it has not only secured the preference of homœopaths and cocoa-drinkers generally, but many who had hitherto not found any preparation to suit them, have, after one trial, adopted the Maravilla Cocoa as their constant beverage for breakfast, luncheon, &c.
"A SUCCESS UNPRECEDENTED."
See following Extract from the Globe of May 14, 1868.
"Various importers and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs. Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of "Maravilla" Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other Cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For Homœopaths and invalids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage."
Sold in packets only by all Grocers, of whom also may be had Taylor Brothers' Original HOMŒOPATHIC Cocoa and SOLUBLE CHOCOLATE.

BRITISH COLLEGE OF HEALTH
EUSTON ROAD, LONDON.
FIFTY YEARS' USE OF THESE MEDICINES
(Morison's Vegetable Universal Medicines)
By the public has proved their efficacy and virtues, and the truth of MR. MORISON'S system as to the cure of diseases. Being composed only of vegetable matter or medicinal herbs, they are harmless to the most tender age or weakest frame, under every stage of suffering; the most unpleasant in their operation; and the most certain in searching out the root of any complaint. Besides cleansing the great highway of the body—the bowels—they act copiously on the kidneys, the liver, and the skin. A sense of relief in the whole system is felt very shortly after they have been taken,—the blood flows more evenly, the heart beats more regularly, and sleep is given to those long deprived of it. The medicines consist of three sorts. No. 1 MORISON'S PILLS; No. 2 MORISON'S PILLS. In boxes at 7½d., 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d.; family packets, 11s. each; also the Vegetable Aperient Powders, 1s. 1½d. per box.

LEA AND PERRINS' Celebrated WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE, DECLARED BY CONNOISSEURS TO BE THE ONLY GOOD SAUCE.
CAUTION AGAINST FRAUD.
The success of this most delicious and unrivalled Condiment having caused certain dealers to apply the name of "Worcestershire Sauce" to their own inferior compounds, the Public is hereby informed that the only way to secure the genuine, is to ASK FOR LEA & PERRINS' SAUCE, and to see that their names are upon the wrapper, labels, stopper, and bottle.
Some of the foreign markets having been supplied with a spurious Worcestershire Sauce, upon the wrapper and labels of which the names of Lea and Perrins' have been forged, L. and P. give notice that they have furnished their correspondents with power of attorney to take instant proceedings against Manufacturers and Vendors of such, or any other imitations by which their right may be infringed.
Ask for LEA & PERRINS' Sauce and see Name on Wrapper, Label, Bottle, and Stopper.
Wholesale and for Export by the Proprietors, Worcester; Crosse and Blackwell, London, &c., &c.; and by Grocers and Oilmen universally. [1v1867

By Her Majesty's Royal Letters Patent.
AND PATENTEE OF THE NICOLLEAN BOOT.
Officers in Her Majesty's Army and Navy should Purchase
THE FLEXURA BOOT.
Especially adapted for the use of Cavalry Officers.
THE FLEXURA or SPRING WAIST BOOT, for both Ladies and Gentlemen, gives an elegant appearance and symmetrical form to the foot, improving the shape of the instep, with increased comfort in wearing. ITS CHIEF FEATURE is an elastic steel spring, inserted in the waist of the boot, causing it to fit more closely to the hollow of the foot than the ordinary boot. It is highly recommended by the Medical Faculty as a support for flat feet and weak ankles, while at the same time it improves the appearance, and developes the shape of a well formed foot by its surprising elasticity. It is also completely successful in remedying uneven wearing, and possesses the important advantage of never losing its shape.
THE FLEXURA BOOT is also invaluable in supporting and training the feet of young people.
THE FLEXURA SPRING can be inserted of any strength, either light or strong, to suit all feet.
MANUFACTURERS OF THE ELEVANS BOOT.
THE ELEVANS BOOT is particularly valuable to Ladies and Gentlemen of short stature; it elevates the wearer, improves the instep, and the wearer is made taller without having unusually high exterior heels.
HUNTING, SHOOTING, and FISHING BOOTS of all descriptions.
MANUFACTURERS of PATENT PANUS CORUM BOOTS and SHOES for tender feet.
Ladies and Gentlemen waited upon at their own residences in town and country for orders, or if residing abroad, may be fitted accurately with the Flexura Boot by forwarding one of their old boots, with an outline of their foot on paper, with the order by post. Lasts and Boot Trees made to order.
Outfits for India, the Colonies, and all climates. Price Lists forwarded on application to E. J. NICOLL, Nicoll's Original Flexura Boot Depôt, Naval, Military, Court Costume, Anatomical, and Family Boot Makers.
